OVER $1.3 MILLION RAISED TOWARD BETA RHO'S VISION FOR 2025

Since announcing the Honoring Our Past 100 Years: Beta Rho's Vision for 2025 capital campaign in February, we have seen tremendous success. Brothers from all generations and decades have joined our cause, donating $181,000 in new gifts and adding 66 new donors to our list of contributors. With over $1.3 million raised in total, we are getting closer to our $1.5 million goal.

Every dollar raised will go toward renovating the chapter house, a vital component of our Vision for 2025 campaign to secure the next 100 years of Beta Rho. The current chapter house, which has housed Beta Rho for the past 55 years, has been a foundation for success, friendships, and the common bond of Beta Rho brotherhood. However, the house is structurally and mechanically out of date, lacks adequate space to house today's chapter, and cannot compete with the growing campus housing market. It is up to us, the Beta Rho alumni, to fix these issues and ensure the chapter house will be a foundation for the next 100 years. This is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to band together to positively impact the future of our chapter and ensure the next generation of brothers is able to develop into leaders and make lifelong friends, just as we did.

The success of today's chapter is easy to see. This spring they had the honor and distinction of winning Fraternity of the Year, Fraternity Membership Recruitment Excellence, and Most Improved Fraternity of the Year at the Montana State University Fraternity & Sorority Life awards. Beta Rho Chapter has also earned four J. Dwight Peterson

Beta Rho received the Fraternity of the Year, Most Improved Fraternity, and Best Fraternity Recruitment awards at the 2016-17 Greek Awards Banquet.

Significant Chapter Awards from Sigma Chi International Headquarters in the past five years. The active brothers are working hard to make sure Sigma Chi continues to be one of the best fraternities on campus, and by supporting the capital campaign, our alumni are doing the same. Let's make sure our younger brothers have a chapter house that fits the quality of excellence displayed by today's chapter.

If you have already contributed to the capital campaign, we thank you. If you have not yet sent in your gift, what are you waiting for? Help us meet our $1.5 million goal by mailing in the enclosed pledge form, or visit www.betarho.kintera.org/donate to make your recurring gift online.

Plans are in place for early September's centennial celebration events and you should have received your invitation in the mail already. If not, details and additional information can be found on our website at www.bobcatsigs.org/centennial. The website will be updated as necessary until the event, so check back often for updates. We look forward to a fantastic weekend reconnecting with brothers and celebrating 100 years of Beta Rho. We hope that you will be there to participate in the celebration.

HONORING OUR PAST 100 YEARS

Beta Rho's Vision for 2025

Commitment to Leadership and Development Lands Sigma Chi on National Television

Sigma Chi was approached last year by a production company that produces a series entitled "Behind the Scenes with James Earl Jones." The production company indicated it found Sigma Chi's focus on leadership and character development to be refreshingly distinct from what is commonly associated with modern fraternity life. As such, they wanted to produce a short segment about the value we bring to the lives of the men who join and, by extension, the communities with which we come into contact.

The first scheduled release was a one-minute segment that was featured on April 13 across the United States on Fox Business Network. This same segment was then played regionally in the top 100 markets in the United States over the next few weeks during primetime on CNBC, CNN, CNN Headline News, Family Channel, Fox News, and MSNBC. Subsequently, the full eight-minute video was released to public broadcasting stations across the country for consumption by viewers in up to 300 different markets. You can watch the full-length video on Sigma Chi Fraternity's website at <http://sigmachicago.org/about>.

HONORING OUR PAST 100 YEARS

Beta Rho's Vision for 2025

Lifelong Commitment to Sigma Chi Motivates Ryan Roseleip '97 to Pay It Forward

“This is your opportunity to fulfill an obligation to provide current undergraduates with those things we wanted when we were in the chapter.”

The Beta Rho Chapter of Sigma Chi at Montana State University is composed of promising young men who are leaders on campus and are committed to the values of the fraternity. It is for these reasons Ryan Roseleip '97 decided to join Sigma Chi, which turned out to be one of the biggest, and greatest, decisions of his life. “I looked at joining a fraternity as a great opportunity to grow my leadership skills, and Beta Rho was that place for me,” he says.

Ryan’s active years in Beta Rho were full of opportunities and benefited him well beyond the social incentives. Some of Ryan’s most formative experiences included campfires, bonding, and laughing with his brothers, as well as intramurals, Derby Days events, ritualistic meetings and Ritual Week. Brothers like Jason Warren '95 (Ryan’s Magister) and all brothers who were committed to upholding the values of the fraternity made Ryan’s time in Sigma Chi a rewarding experience. But perhaps the biggest takeaway Ryan gained from Beta Rho was learning how to face the many challenges and obstacles he endured as an undergraduate. Ryan says, “I’m glad I faced those challenges earlier on, because I have come across many of those same challenges today.”

The love that Ryan developed for Sigma Chi has extended well past his undergraduate years. After graduating from MSU, Ryan worked for Sigma Chi Headquarters in Illinois for three years, which involved visiting 40 undergraduate chapters around the nation, working with these chapters on leadership development, running a successful chapter, promoting the values of the fraternity, and working with several chapters on expansion initiatives, discipline, and accountability. As an alumnus, Ryan continues to be involved with all things Sigma Chi, such as participating in Grand Chapter, Balfour Leadership Training Workshop, Mission 365 recruitment events, Alumni Ambassador programs, and more.

Because of Ryan’s unwavering dedication to Sigma Chi more than 20 years later, he views supporting Beta Rho’s Honoring Our Past 100 Years: Beta Rho’s Vision for 2025 campaign as second nature. As Ryan pays it forward to Beta Rho, he asks that alumni remember their years in the fraternity and how that experience has changed their lives. “Reflect back to what you wanted at that point in time as an undergraduate and some of the challenges we faced, and consider stepping up and supporting Beta Rho’s campaign. This is your opportunity to fulfill an obligation to provide current undergraduates with those things we wanted when we were in the chapter. This campaign will provide a location to grow the brotherhood, demonstrate that alumni are living the lifelong commitment to the fraternity, serve as a recruitment tool for the chapter, and a place that university administrators will recognize as a piece of the university.”

As a medical sales manager for the state of Wisconsin at Johnson & Johnson, Ryan sells general surgery, thoracic surgeon, and surgical oncology products. One of Ryan’s favorite highlights from his professional career with Johnson & Johnson is when his division ranked in the top 10% of sales teams across the nation in 2016, as well as when the company was considered the primary device vendor for hospitals in Wisconsin. “I enjoy the values of the company, the competition of sales, and being part of an employee-supportive environment,” he says.

In his free time, Ryan enjoys motorcycle riding, outdoor-related activities, traveling, and spending time with his wife, Kristin, and their 9-year-old daughter, Kennedy. They live in Sun Prairie, Wisconsin. Ryan says, “Sigma Chi, with its opportunities as an undergraduate and throughout my career, has provided tremendous opportunity for personal growth, brotherhood, and the opportunity to be surrounded by people with similar values.” You can send Ryan an e-mail at rroseleip@gmail.com.

Beta Rho Chapter Wins Fraternity of the Year, Prepares for Another 100 Years at MSU

Beta Rho has been working hard in preparation of celebrating the 100-year anniversary of our chapter's founding. Brothers have improved the chapter in many different areas: academics, alumni relations, having greater on- and off-campus involvement, and truly exemplifying what it means to be a Sigma Chi. Our hard work has paid off immensely, as Beta Rho Chapter was recently recognized by our campus with awards for Fraternity of the Year, Most Improved Fraternity, and Best Fraternity Recruitment at the 2016-17 Greek Awards Banquet. We are looking forward to a fantastic upcoming year, packed with many great opportunities for each member to grow and to help the chapter reach new levels of success.

PUTTING IN THE TIME

With our most recent chapter GPA of 2.84 on the rise to the goal of a 3.00, we are striving to instill a culture where every single brother understands the importance of their academics. The current GPA landed us third among the other chapters on campus. Beta Rho hopes to earn first place with the continued use of our scholarship raffle system that incentivizes high grades on exams.

BROTHERS AIM TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE ON AND OFF CAMPUS

As always, the chapter has been keeping up with its great off-campus volunteering events. We have visited God's Garden just outside of Bozeman to help when needed and honored Brother Karston Waarvick '15 by cleaning his dedicated highway section. Through the coordination efforts of a local resident in our neighborhood, we had the opportunity to be involved in a neighborhood-wide cleanup event that benefits everyone in the area. One of the largest goals for the chapter in the upcoming year is to improve our on-campus involvement by hosting, co-hosting with sororities or other fraternities, or doing small volunteering jobs for any events on campus we can find. The chapter hopes that this will expose brothers to a wider range of the students to interact with every day.

BRINGING IN THE FUTURE OF OUR CHAPTER

The new P4B program has integrated perfectly into our pledge education system. "The new pledge program has been difficult for the chapter as a whole to adjust to, but with the exceptional fall and spring classes, we were able to easily make the adjustments. This will become tradition sooner than we know it and we are very proud of how it has turned out. The main goal was to ensure the message of what it means to be a Sigma Chi was upheld along with Beta Rho traditions. This was accomplished through the help of all the brothers, supportive alumni, and hardworking pledges," Magister Jakob Wegenast '18 says.

LOOKING FORWARD TO ANOTHER GREAT 100 YEARS

With the centennial celebration shaping up to be a real tribute to the excellence that Beta Rho has achieved on this campus, the chapter realizes that we are the foundation for the next 100 years. We all look forward to meeting more alumni and showing you what we are made of. A schedule of events for the celebration, as well as information on lodging, travel accommodations, etc., can be found at www.bobcatsigs.org/centennial. Questions, comments, and/or concerns regarding the celebration can be directed to sigmachibetarhoalumni@gmail.com or Norman Achen '66 at norm@normanachen.com.

We all hope to continually make each and every one of you proud to be a Sigma Chi and look forward to the future of Beta Rho.
